An unfortunate controversy has arisen over the publication of Hail Caine's "The Eternal City" in the English periodical, The Lady's Magazine, where it has appeared serially since December. The publishers have taken two decisive and un- trolled by trusts. compromising steps. They have issued a writ and begun sult against Mr. Caine for £1.000, or one-half of the money already paid for the serial rights. They have also omitted an installment of the story in the been printed, but not yet issued. The pub- | cack. lishers claim that the omitted installment is too immoral for their use; on the contrary the author insists that it is the essence of the highest morality. When the rooster, "but among us she is the most sensible publishers notified him of their objection | thing that ever happened." he consented to the omission, but declined to furnish a substitute. This broke the continuity of the tale; hence the suit for damages. As a matter of course everyone, Chicago News. including the readers of the Lady's Magazine, will now wish to read the unexpugated edition.

ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS.

The Daughters of the Confederacy are negotiating for the purchase of Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson's former residence in Lexington, Va., the purpose being to convert it into a Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The Cleveland Day Nursery and Free Kindergarten Association has received from the Hanna family of that city $10,000, to be used as an endowment fund in memory of their mother, Mrs. Samantha Hanna. Senator Burrows, of Michigan, said, in a recent after-dinner speech, in Detroit: "In one respect, at least, I am unique. I am probably the only Michigander in politics who has absolutely no right to the title of lumber king.'

O. C. Barber, president of the Diamond Match Company, is about to build a $300,000 residence in Akron. It is reported that his new home will be the finest dwelling house in Ohio. The material for the outside of the structure will cost $50,000, and the porte-cochere alone $7,000.

Four residuary bequests are made in the dealer in New Brunswick, N. J. Wells Memorial Hospital and the Young Men's Christian Association in New Brunswick will receive $10,000 each, the Children's Industrial Home in New Brunswick $5,000 and

The construction of these docks had a magic effect on the little township of Caer-Taff. In the first half of the last century. Cardiff added only 10,000 to its population of 2,000 in 1800, but to-day it has a still growing population of over 130,000, while its export trade exceeds that of London and Liver-

There is no more ardent admirer of things English and American than the Empress of Japan, who, with her husband, has done much to develop her country on Western lines. The Empress, who has been mar-ried thirty years and has a family of five children, is still as vigorous as any of them. Every day she spends an hour in her private gymnasium in the palace at Tokio, and she is said to be one of the most skillful horsewomen in Japan. "Maine," says the Kennebec Journal, "has a peculiar interest in the survey of the northwestern boundary between the United States and Canada from the fact that the geologist detailed by the national government to have charge of the work is George O. As a means of reducing the taxes for the maintenance of the police department of Glasgow it has been proposed that 50 per cent. of the extra rent charged by landlords of public houses above the sums which such houses, minus the licenses. would let for shall be paid into the municipal treasury. There are many public houses in Glasgow the rents of which are enormously out of proportion to the accommo-dation afforded, and it is argued that the landlords ought to be made to share their excessive profits with the city.

MAGAZINE ILLUSTRATORS.

They Have an Advantage Over Those

New Orleans Times-Democrat. "The chaps who draw the pictures for the magazines and weeklies have an immense advantage over the everyday newspaper artist," said a man who knew what he was talking about, "and it is rather unfair to nstitute any comparisons. What I mean is "The new woman may not be a success among | that the magazine man never dreams of the genus Homo," observed a philosophic old touching pen or brush unless he has a model posed in front of him, while the hurried chap on the newspaper nearly always has to work up his picture from memory or a rough sketch. The only great illustrator who hever used models was Gustave Dore," the speaker went on, "and he turned out such a vast quantity of drawings that he didn't have time to bother with them. His blographer says he evolved his figures from his 'inner consciousness,' and in a modern studio they would say he faked' them, but it all means the same thing. Of course, the magazine men are right in insisting on models, if they can, but more than once their persistence in the matter has set the publishers nearly crazy. I remember an amusing story I heard a year or so ago about a well-known New York illustrator who was engaged to make "What! Right before everybody?" giggled the pictures for a serial that one of the magazines had listed for publication. He read the manuscript and said he would begin as soon as he could engage his models, but week after week rolled by with no sign of the drawings. When prodded up, he explained that there was one absolutely essential model he couldn't find-an elderly man, whom he had used before and who fit one of the principal characters like a glove. This individual had mysteriously disappeared from his old haunts, and the artist flatly refused to do anything until he located him. It was rather late to en-gage somebody else to do the illustrating. so the anxious publisher, the author, and, everybody, in fact, about the establishment proceeded to emulate Sherlock Holmes in the hope of running down the missing model. They had the artist's prior studies of him to go by, and I'm told they waylaid dozens of innocent and astonished strangers. At last they got their man, and where do you think they found him? Working in the book bindery upstairs. He wasn't recognized before because he had cut off his beard and knew nothing of the frantic search until a fellow-workman happened c mention it as a joke. Then he gave nimself up. The episode delayed the pubication of an important serial for an entire season, and the artist has never done any more work for that particular writer. By illustrators of the country make all their drawings in color. Their reason for so doing is that they get back the originals after they are engraved and sell them to the art dealers at a higher price than would be paid for simple black and white. By modern photographic methods a colored drawing can be engraved as easily as any other, so it makes no difference to the publisher and the artist gets double par-

College Humor.

The Harvard Lampoon, which celebratday, claims to be the oldest comic paper of America. This we believe is true, although near St. Paul. Ind. The regular club meet- there were several funny papers, now dead, which were started before the Lampoon. that in our opinion the college funny papers -such as the Harvard Lampoon, Princeton Tiger, Yale Record, U. of M. Wrinkle, Cornen Widow, etc., are easily the best journals of their class in this country. Their editors are always young at the business and therefore spontaneous, and their humor is seldom manufactured. In fact, if the any one who takes the trouble (r rather pleasure) to find out will be sur rised to learn that an entirely new style of humor is growing throughout the land.

> Have you seen those Platinum photographs made at Pouder's gallery, 229 Massachusetts avenue? These are the most modern product of the photographic art, and Mr. Pouder has been surprisingly successful in the perfection of them. Those desiring a beautiful and extremely pleasing photograph should visit this popular studio.
